

DONNY LOVES WRESTLING

Donny loved to watch wrestling on the television every Saturday night with his father and brothers. They were allowed to eat their [every/ dinner/ truck] in front of the TV, which [yes/ was/ say] a treat because Mom usually made [dips/ she/ them] eat dinner at the table. Mom [hop/ us/ put] their dinners on trays, and they watched [come/ the/ were] chaos of the wrestling show.

Donny especially [liked/ cloud/ scent] Big Bayou Paul because he put [paint/ frees/ went] on his face.

One day Pops, Donny's [sauce/ father/ where], came home with a big surprise [for/ am/ work] his sons. He had bought tickets [be/ to/ fat] the wrestling match that would be [old/ cans/ held] at Municipal Auditorium on Saturday night, [need/ gang/ and] he wanted to take the family [out/ deer/ was] to dinner and then to the [match/ fast/ card]. Donny and his brothers were so excited [fork/ that/ tile] they jumped up and down but [fuel/ their/ open] mother did not seem to be [too/ met/ him] thrilled. "I thought it was all [have/ were/ just] a fake performance. I didn't know [hard/ see/ they] really wrestled," she said.

"It is [tear/ all/ went] real, Mom, not playacting. Those men [are/ no/ into] really big and strong. They look [maybe/ trips/ like] giants on the TV, and they [dinner/ swing/ grape] each other around and throw each [timer/ last/ other] over the ropes. It will be [the/ bat/ so] much fun, Mom, I promise," said Donny. [Then/ East/ Point] he stared off into space, daydreaming [body/ about/ penny] the match they would see on Saturday [very/ that/ night].

They went to dinner at Pop's favorite restaurant, Angelo's Steak House, [be/ on/ pot] Highway 100. Donny, Tim, and Brad [fact/ old/ all] ordered their famous Stage Coach Burger [own/ grow/ with] Ranch Fries. Their parents had steaks [and/ deny/ tell] potatoes. "Thanks so much for taking [us/ bat/ was] out to dinner, Dad," said Donny on [none/ bus/ the] way to the auditorium. His brothers [ways/ agreed/ teller] and voiced their thanks, too.

When [they/ well/ scare] arrived, the auditorium was already filling [cat/ we/ up] with people carrying hot dogs and drinks. [In/ Be/ Do] the center was the ring with [flat/ many/ area] spotlights focused upon it. "Ladies and gentlemen, [as/ of/ I] bring you two of the most ferocious wrestlers [in/ bit/ go] the world, Big Bayou Paul from [edge/ the/ bell] backwoods of Louisiana and Mean Mo [from/ help/ leaf] Alaska. Let the match begin," said [and/ cry/ the] host of the event.

Big Bayou Paul [sell/ had/ hips] his face painted, much to the delight [far/ of/ we] Donny. Mean Mo yelled, "I'll stomp [on/ joy/ jar] you, Little Paul, and there won't [be/ all/ wet] anything left when I get through [mail/ fall/ with] you!" Big Bayou Paul yelled back [has/ dot/ and] the two threw each other about [the/ bass/ push] ring for thirty minutes until Big Bayou Paul [mane/ hat/ was] declared the winner. "Yea, Big Paul!" [books/ yelled/ where] Donny and his brothers from their [deer/ tight/ seats]. Even Mom was cheering!
